

Sept. 27th, 1926

Re - Phillips Farm

Interviewed Peter Remsing at his residence, top floor, 57 John St., near Oliver St., this morning,

Said that in Sept. 1922 he was employed as chauffeur by Dr. Anthony Gouessner, 153 Somerset St., corner Hardenberg St., driving both a Dodge and Cadillac car. That on or about Sept. 18, 1922, a couple of days following the finding of bodies he went to the scene at the Phillips Farm and that while looking around saw and picked up a small key about 20 to 25 feet distance from carbapple tree under which he said bodies were found. That is was a small key very much the style and type of a Yale or safe deposit box key.

That on his return he showed it to and told the Doctor the circumstance and asked if he had any use for it. Says that Dr. Gouessner took the key. This was about one o'clock of same day he found it.

At about 3 P.M. he received a telephone call from Dr. Gouessner to drive the Cadillac car and come down town and pick him up at his brother's drug store, Albany St. opp. Penn. Depot.

When he arrived here he was taken into the rear room of drug store. Here he says he found Dr. Gouessner and several men. Says they all questioned him about finding of the key, etc. Believes these men were reporters and thinks the Doctor gave the key to one of them.

Says that at time that he found the key so far as he knows the Phillips Farm was unoccupied except for a caretaker, whose name he does not know, and was not put to any use.

Remsing is now employed as driving tester at Michelin Tire Factory, Main St. & Ford Ave., Milltown, N.J.

Respectfully submitted,

Thomas L. Harrison